Basketball 2012-2013

Making the drive to to the hometown Gering High School boys, (49-43).

for a C2-12 sub-district basketball game has been a path that many Hemingford fans have followed over the years, with victories coming now and then in opening rounds, but rarely in a sub-district final. That changed Thursday night, when long-time nemesis Bridgeport, a two time winner over the Hemingford Boys this season, was unable to stay with the defensive pressure the Bobcats kept bringing, and fell

With the win, Hemingford moves to (19-5) on the season, and advances to the 2013 C2-6 District Final, to be played Monday, February 25th, 6:30 PM at Sidney High School, vs (21-3) North Platte St. Patrick's. The winner will head to Lincoln in two weeks for the 2013 State Tourney!

Good Luck Boys and a job well done!

February – March 2013

Superintendent's Notes – Mr. Ningen

This time of year is a study in contrasts as the weather and our activities are sometimes at odds. We have already had a few February days that would have been great days for a track meet, but should probably plan on a meet or two being postponed in March or April because of stormy weather. Like most Western Nebraskans, we will take the moisture whenever we can.

Congratulations to the wrestlers that made it to Omaha. Cash Weber, Cooper Weber, and Lee Jespersen represented our school well at the State meet, and the two freshmen, along with some team mates from this year, and some incoming junior high wrestlers should make 2013-2014 a solid one for HHS. Thanks to Coaches Kyle Walker and Jake Frost for their efforts this season.

Coaches Chatelain, Janssen, and Morava were able to keep the girls basketball team rolling this season, along with great Senior seasons by Kelsy Wood, Kaitlyn Jespersen, Kristina Kramer, Jayleen Forgey, Cassie Elder, and Carolina Carlson. Wood was able to score over 1,000 points in her four-year high school career, and the girls made it to the Sub-District Finals, finishing with a (14-8) won-loss record. Great Job!

The boys basketball team, with coaches Hiemstra, Collins, and Wood have worked their way into the finals of sub-districts as well, with a PAC Tourney Championship and a (17-5) won – loss record so far this season. Seniors Brady Horstman and Kyle Kumpf have done a good job showing the way for the rest of a very young team.

Speech has also been an involved activity this winter and spring. Sponsors are Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Herstead, and the Speech team has been to several contests in and around the panhandle. Later this season, Hemingford will host the PAC Speech contest, on Saturday, March 2nd. Senior Speech team members include Davina Berg, Kayla Christianson, Anna Hughart, and Nicole Schekall.

Future Farmers and FCCLA are in the midst of contest seasons that will lead to state and national competition for FFA Sponsor Gordon Karney and FCCLA Sponsor Suzanne Neefe.

And so for a time of the school year that features cold weather, challenging sports and contests, Hemingford is fortunate that we have so many reasons to stay inside and support our students! We would still like to see an increase in moisture as well !

Great Job!

Already—Yes! Set those clocks ahead on March 10th. Daylight-Savings time is upon us. Until everyone's internal clock adjusts, please work with your son or daughter in getting them up and moving to be at school on time. Being on time is a skill that needs to be developed. School is the primary "job" for students and should be treated as such. The season for shorts also begins again at this time. Please help us with the length of shorts that girl's wear. They should rest at mid-thigh is a good visual ruler for you.

NeSA State Testing—This year April is the primary month for state testing. Testing will be for students grades 7, 8, and 11 in reading, math and science. The dates are noted on the school calendar. Due to the importance of these tests for our school, the students will have a testing schedule. Students should not schedule appointments during these times.

ACT Test Preparation—The school is using the John Baylor Test Prep material which has data that provides evidence that this program is successful in raising test scores. All juniors will go through the 10 sessions during the school day. This will be beneficial as a review for state testing as well as in preparation for those juniors that might take the ACT test in April. This is free to the students, which is an advantage for our students. Some schools charge for this prep activity.

Please help support your child and school by letting them know how important it is to give their best effort on these tests.

Parent/Teacher Conferences—End of 3rd Quarter is March 18

Please plan to spend some time at the high school on Tuesday, March 26 for parent/teacher conferences. Conferences run from 2:00 – 8:00 pm. At that time you may pick up your son or daughters report card as well as discuss with teacher the strengths/concerns of your child. This is an excellent opportunity to discuss what projects will be upcoming or ask questions. Feel free to bring your son/daughter to conferences with you. It is useful for them to hear the good as well as how they could do better. Remember conferences are for all the students in grades 7-12.

Teacher Assessment Day

The morning of March 27, teachers will spend time with 6-trait writing scoring. Teachers will score the writing that was completed earlier this month. These results help provide data to the English department which they use to adjust curriculum.

Lock-Down Drill: A school-wide drill will occur during March. We practice many types of drills; fire, tornado, and lockdown. These are required by the state of Nebraska, but also are of great benefit in the case of an actual emergency. Staff members talk to the students each year about the different drills and what to expect from each one. The school will invite local law enforcement to participate. If you visit the high school you will see that the east door now has a buzzer system. It is very simple to use. After pushing the button, wait for the buzz sound and pull on the door as the buzz is sounding.

HAPPY ST. PATRICKS DAY!

Supervised Study Time (SST)

It happens from 3:30-4:00 Monday-Thursday. Looking for students that need time to make up work from being absent, use computers, finish projects, ask questions, or finish homework; all ways that can raise a student grade and understand material presented. All students are welcome to use this time. SST also helps to keep students eligible by receiving the one-to one assistance that may be needed to understand a concept or complete some unfinished work.

Absent or Truant?

When it is necessary for a student to be absent for a non-school related activity, the parent or guardian is asked to call the school prior to 8:45 am. You can leave a message on the school answering machine early in the morning if that works best for you. This is to ensure safety and accountability for your child. Also if you would like an assignment sheet for your son/daughter, it needs to be requested when you call in. Normally when your child is ill enough to be at home, it may be more beneficial for them that they sleep during the day and plan on staying for SST the next day to work on missed assignments.

Also, attendance is a direct correlation for student success. Please try to schedule necessary appointments during breaks or when little time from school can be missed. Your help in keeping students in school as long as possible is much appreciated.

School Activities

During the month of March, the focus is pulled from athletic competitions to the fine arts and academic competitions. Band clinics, instrumental music, quiz bowl teams are all part of the March activities. The Dinner-Theatre is set for the weekend of March 23-25 with District Speech (March 11) and WTC Instrumental Music (March 5). Quiz Bowl competitions will be March 15 at Edgemont and March 20 at Morrill.

County Government Day—Monday, March 4: The government class will be spending the day at the Box Butte County Courthouse to learn more about the different agencies/offices that serve our county.

Capital Forum

Mr. Chatelain and four students will be attending the Capital Forum on March 25 and 26 in Lincoln. During this time students attend mini-sessions where they discuss and deliberate over issues that have been raised in the forum. (Some of the issues, I believe are those currently being discussed in the legislative session.)

Scheduling for Next Year

The scheduling process for the 2013-2014 school year will begin mid-March. Your son/daughter will be bringing home request registrations forms. Please review these forms with your child and help them to choose classes that will best fit his/her needs. All parents must sign the form indicating that they are aware of courses their son/daughter may be taking. During the scheduling process, we try to honor all student requests; however sometimes it is not possible and students will need to make choices.

HEADING TOWARDS MARCH

We are heading towards the fourth quarter of school starting on March 19th, it just doesn't seem possible. We have had a very productive and rewarding year so far. I love walking into the classrooms and seeing the kids engaged in learning. As principal I feel blessed having children who are coming to school each day eager to learn. Our teachers are doing an excellent job helping the kids reach their potential.

STATE WRITING

Grades 4, 8, and 11 participated in the state writing assessment. The students in all other grades will write using the spring prompts that have been developed by our staff. The staff will be evaluating and scoring all papers the morning of March 27th.

STATE READING, MATH, and SCIENCE TESTS

We will administer the NeSA-R and NeSA – M, (Nebraska State Accountability Reading and Math) tests this spring for students in grades 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 11.

We also will administer the NeSA-S (Nebraska State Accountability Science) to grades 5, 8, and 11. This is a state requirement to measure student growth against schools throughout our state. THESE TESTS ARE VERY IMPORTANT.

Let's show everyone how great our school is by doing our very best.

ACCELERATED READING

We use the accelerated reading program to supplement their reading in the classroom. I used this program when I was a teacher. I found it provided the kids with great opportunities to enhance their reading. You can help by asking your child questions about their AR book or letting them read to you.

LOCKDOWN DRILL

We will be running a lockdown drill in the month of March. We practice many types of drills; fire, tornado, and lockdown. These are required by the state of Nebraska, but also are of great benefit in the case of an actual emergency. Together we can make a difference for kids © Call us with any questions at 487-3330.

Summer School 2013

It's hard to believe that planning for summer school has already begun! Changes have been made this year; due to the over whelming attendants last year, ONLY the students who participate in the Title 1 program or receive Resource Services will be invited. If you have a child that participates in either of these programs, please be on the lookout during Parent Teacher Conferences for your parent letter!

If you have questions please call Ammie Frost at the school. 308-487-3330

Giorgi's Gym

According to a study from the British Medical Journal, sitting too much shortens your life span. If you were able to sit 2 hours less per day, you could live 2 years longer.

-COMING MARCH 12th- ARE YOU MORE COORDINATED THAN YOUR FIFTH GRADER?

The fifth annual Parent PE Challenge night will be held on Tuesday, March 12 from 6:00 - 7:00 PM in the high school gym. All 5th graders and their parents are invited to attend. Food and Fitness for a Healthy Child

March 2013

Hemingford Public Schools
Nancy Yardley, Food Service

BEST BITES

Alphabet exercise

For a fun exercise, have your child lie on her back and use her legs to “draw” the alphabet in the air. She could form uppercase letters, take a break, and then do the lowercase alphabet. To give her arms a workout, she can stand up, hold her arms straight out, and move them around to make the letters.

Drink think

Get your youngster thinking about what he drinks with this idea. Each day, have him write down the drinks he has and how much (1 glass milk, $\frac{1}{2}$ can soda). Younger children could draw pictures of each one. Encourage him to have mostly milk and water—and tell him he can use his daily lists to see how he’s doing!

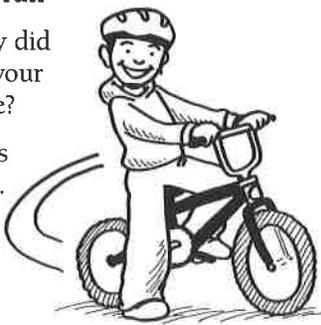

DID YOU KNOW?

The healthiest foods tend to be placed around the perimeter of a grocery store. This is where you’ll find fresh foods, such as fruits, vegetables, meats, fish, eggs, and milk. Try to shop from the perimeter first, and then fill in with the canned, packaged, and bagged items that you need from the center aisles.

Just for fun

Dad: Why did you ride your bike twice?

Ben: I was re-cycling.

I’m a cook!

There are many benefits to having a youngster who cooks. He gains an important life skill, and you get to spend time together in the kitchen. Plus, he’s likely to be a healthier eater, because homemade meals tend to be more nutritious. Help your child enjoy cooking with these ideas.

Play a starring role. If Grandma is coming for dinner, put him in charge of a dish. He will feel proud when you say, “Isn’t this meatloaf delicious? Evan made it all by himself!” Tip: Teach him how to make one of your family’s favorite foods so it can become “his” contribution for get-togethers or holiday meals.

Use the tools. Give your youngster a children’s cookbook, and let him put his name in it. You can tell him that chefs make notes on their recipes, and he could do the same. He might write, “Great recipe” next to one he liked, or “Use strawberries instead” if he didn’t like the blueberries in a dish. Also, consider getting him his own apron, cookie cutters, or other “cook’s tools”—and let him keep his things in a special bin or drawer.

Be creative. Tell your child that a recipe is a guide. The fun in cooking can be personalizing the ingredients or coming up with his own creations. Encourage him to follow his tastes (and try not to cringe if they’re not yours). And remember, it doesn’t have to be perfect—if the cucumber slices are all different sizes, they will still taste good. If your child is comfortable in the kitchen, he’ll be more likely to cook now and when he’s older. ♥

Relevant facts

Telling your child to eat something because it’s “healthy” can backfire—she may hear “healthy” and think “yuck.” Instead, try to relate the food to something she cares about. For example, you might say:

- “I know you love to solve brain-teasers. Guess what? Eating fish is good for your brain. Which piece of salmon do you want?”
- “Nuts give you energy to play hard. How about taking trail mix for your snack tomorrow—you’ll have lots of energy at recess time!”
- “I see you’re excited about going to gymnastics today! This spinach salad has extra calcium to help your bones grow strong so you can swing on the uneven bars. How much would you like?” ♥

Frisbee games

Tossing a Frisbee is not only fun, it's a good way for your child to get more physical activity. Suggest these games.

Catch

Stand a few feet apart, and toss a Frisbee to your child. She catches it, takes a big step back, and tosses it to you. With each catch, the person moves back a step. Soon you'll be tossing farther and farther and running to catch the disc.

Obstacle course

Create a Frisbee obstacle course in your backyard or at a park. For instance, you might have to toss the Frisbee over a tree, in between swings, or into a soccer net. Time each person through the course to find the winner.

Race

If you have a lot of space, you can have a Frisbee race. Mark a start and finish line, and give each runner a Frisbee. At "Go," each runner flings her Frisbee, races to it, tosses it again, and keeps going until she reaches the finish line. Note: Try this at a school track if there aren't other people running. ♡

Q & A Should I coach?

Q: I love baseball. Should I sign up to coach my son's baseball team?

A: Volunteering is a wonderful way to show your child that you support his physical activity. You will also fill a need in your community—in fact, sports groups often have trouble getting enough coaches. And you can get tremendous satisfaction from helping a group of children.

But deciding to coach is a big decision, as it will affect your relationship with your son on and off the field. Ask yourself a few questions, such as, "How will I separate my role as parent and coach?" "How will my child respond when I pay attention to his teammates?" and "How will I react if my son doesn't play well?" It's also a good idea to talk to your youngster about how he would feel if you coached.

Finally, make a list of the pros and cons to help you come to the right decision for you and your family. ♡

ACTIVITY CORNER

Spice it up

How can your youngster take a tour of the world and learn about a healthy way to add flavor to food? By exploring spices and herbs! Try these steps:

1. Put out spice jars. For each one, have your child read the name, look inside, and smell the spice. Does it remind her of a food she eats? For example, oregano might smell like pizza, or curry might make her think of Indian food. Together, look at the label to see where the spice is grown (or search for the information online).
2. Help your youngster make a spice guide. She can put dots of glue on construction paper and sprinkle a spice on each one. Have her write the name underneath and list dishes to use it in. Hint: She can find recommendations on the label or in cookbooks.
3. When you're making dinner, ask your child to pick spices to add. Let her taste the food before and after—what does she notice? ♡

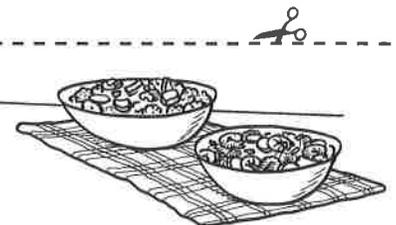

IN THE KITCHEN

No-cook dinners

Sometimes you just don't feel like cooking. On those nights, try one of these main-course salads that involve assembling—but no oven or stove.

Shrimp-bulgur salad

1. Put 1½ cups bulgur in a bowl, and cover with warm water. Let stand for about 2 hours, until the bulgur is tender. Drain.
2. Whisk ½ cup olive oil with the juice of 1 lemon and 3 tbsp. chopped dill. Add the bulgur, along with 1 lb. cooked shrimp (available from a grocery store or fish market), 3 cups fresh spinach, and 2 tbsp. chopped almonds. Season with salt and pepper.

Chicken-apple slaw

1. Shred the meat from a rotisserie chicken.
2. Toss with:
 - 1 cup broccoli slaw
 - 1 diced apple (cored)
 - 1 celery stalk, thinly sliced
 - 1 can water chestnut slices (drained)
 - ¼ cup low-fat ranch dressing
3. Using an ice cream scoop, put a portion on a bed of lettuce.

Variation: Use canned tuna (packed in water) instead of chicken. ♡
